

We can all agree the permit renewal process has changed over the years. Both the USFS and the BLM analyze grazing permits using the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). The process alone is seemingly complex, then add all of the new laws and regulations affecting allotment management (i.e. Governor's Sage Grouse Executive Order, Resource Management Plans, Rangeland Health Assessments, etc.). Permit renewals are also challenged by special interest groups across the West.

Sublette County Conservation District and associated partners have come together in an effort to bring the permit renewal process to a new understanding. This FREE workshop is intended to provide grazing permittees the tools and resources to better understand the grazing permit renewal process. At the end of the day, workshop participants will leave with a clear understanding of when and how to get involved to best benefit the permit renewal process.

Our sponsors will also have booths available so you can learn more about who they are and how they can be of assistance to you!

WE HOPE THAT YOU JOIN US!
